

We offer internships!

(Mandatory or voluntary internships)

WfW in Sunday Observer Sri Lanka, Nov 12th, 2017

The project

Women for Women in Jail is a project in Sri Lanka from women for women who are imprisoned for committing petty and other crimes. Due to lacking financial means and juridical support imprisonments tend to be disproportionately long. Often these women also lack the social backing for an appropriate care of their underage children which they sometimes still breast-feed and who have no other chance than staying in prison with their mothers as well. It is obvious that this presents disastrous conditions, especially regarding early childhood development.

Particularly regarding the time after release, Women for Women in Jail is aiming for a successful reintegration of these women and children into their familiar social and working environment. Therefore, we offer language classes in English and German as well as child care and support which are conducted by our staff inside the prisons.
